rine Band.

Niles, O., Nov. 20.—The corner of the National McKinley Birthplace Memorial was laid here at noon today with ceremonies reminiscent of the former president's life. "Lead Kindly Light," the hymn which clung to the murdered president in his dying moments, and the Strauss waltz, "On the Beautiful Blue Danube," a favorite of Mrs. McKinley's were played by the United States Marine Band and James H. Hoyt, an intimate friend of the former president, recited personal reminiscences. At the conclusion of the program, Major Charles B. Hanford, head of the marine band, declared "The Star Spangled Banner," a bit of eulogium which McKinley was wont to request in his White House days.

President Wilson was forced to decline an invitation to lay the corner stone but he sent a representative of the national administration and promised to be present at the dedication of the building later. Other guests of the day included Senators Atlee Pomerene and Warren G. Harding of Ohio; Representative William A. Ashbrook of Johnston, Ohio; J. G. Schmidlap of Cincinnati, one of the trustees of the memorial fund; Gov. Frank Willis of Ohio, Myron T. Herrick, of Cleveland former ambassador to France, and L. C. Dyer of St. Louis, a member of Congress and commander of the United Spanish War Veterans; Gov. Willis, Mr. Herrick, and Congressman Dyer being the principal speakers.

The day's program began in which state troops, veteran organizations, Masons and other organizations, in which McKinley was interested, took part. Camps of Spanish War Veterans and posts of the Grand Army of the Republic from Cleveland, Alliance, Canton and Akron, O., and Pittsburgh, Sharon and New Castle, Pa., were in the line of marchers. Half a dozen bands made music for the parade.

After the Masonic part of the program a tablet was affixed to the stone, bearing this inscription:

"ERECTED 1915.
"To Perpetuate the Name and Achievements of William Mc-Kinley, Twenty-fifth President of the United States of America.
"Born January 29, 1843
"Died September 14, 1901."

The building itself, when complete will be a two story structure of severe colonial design, flanked by one-story wings of almost equal length with the main structure. The main portion is to be supported by six ionic columns and the facade of each wing will carry as many similar supports in sectional form. The cornice will be plain, and rectangular doors and windows will emphasize the straight lines of the design.

VOLCANO IS IN ERUPTION ON SICILY ISLAND

Catania, Sicily, Nov. 20.—Passengers on steamships arriving from the Lipari Islands, report that the eruption of Stromboli volcano is increasing in violence. They describe the spectacle as awe-inspiring, particularly at night, when streams of flaming lava, flowing from the crater at the top of the mountain,
are visible for many miles out at sea.

Villa's Retreat Threatened
by Surrounding of Cananea, by Troops of Gen. Carranza

Douglas, Ariz., Nov. 20.—Cananea, center of the smelting industry of Sonora, is surrounded today by Carranza troops under General Alvarado Obregon in an attempt to cut off the escape of Villa forces under General Jose Rodriguez, according to advice received by Carranza officials here. Carranza officials claim that the battle in that part of Sonora is turning in Obregon's favor.

Indication of another Carranza victory was given, the officials said, in advice stating that Villa's main

PRICE OF TURKEYS
GOING TO BE HIGH

[Associated Press Telegram]
New York, Nov. 20.—Turkey
for Thanksgiving is going to be high, but fruits and vegetables
will be lower than normal.
Within the week the price of turkey has jumped two to five cent a pound and the best product is selling for thirty cents,
higher than for three years.
Turkey from the west is quoted today at 24 to 25 cents. The warm weather this fall is blamed for the high price.

HARVARD'S

SUPPORTERS BETTING 10 TO 8
ON TODAY'S GAME WITH YALE.

Shevlin's Perfected Play Not Feared
—Harvard's Fake Play Is Chief Offense.

Score end of first half: Harvard,
27; Yale, 0.

[Associated Press Telegram]
Cambridge, Mass., Nov. 20.—The anxiety felt during yesterday's downpour as to the weather conditions
for the Harvard-Yale football game
today was dissipated when the sun
rose in a clear sky, with a fresh west
wind blowing across Soldiers' Field.
The huge white magnate of the stadium drew nearly 50,000 enthusiasts to the annual struggle.

Rising triumphant from what two weeks ago looked like a disastrous year, the Yale team came to Cambridge today flushed with its conquest of Princeton last week. It was fairly confident either of victory over Harvard or of repeating the wonderful rally of five years ago, when the blue forces, after an equally discouraging preliminary season held an admittedly stronger Crimson aggregation to a scoreless tie.

The Harvard team was 10 to 8 favorite among the betting fraternity.
These backers failed to see how defeat could overtake an eleven so trained and tested. The latest Shevlin variation of the Minnesota shift,
as exemplified against Princeton, was admitted that in the last week Yale
had had an opportunity of making
even this simple play more effective.

The reliance of the Harvard offense seemed to be in the deceptive-ness of the play with Mahan back, threatening to punt but ready to dash round the end or through the center or to fling a forward pass to one of his ends.

The football elevens of Harvard and Yale universities played their annual contest here this afternoon
before an assembly of spectators which just fell short of 50,000. The huge horseshoe shaped stadium had been made elliptical by the addition of temporary wooden stands at the open end and long before the teams lined up every available foot of space held its share of cheering humanity. From the towering walls of the stadium could be seen thousands of parked automobiles. At the score or more of entrances to the field were gathered hundreds of prospective spectators who had failed
in their expectations of gaining admission at the last moment. In these groups of disappointed enthusiasts ticket speculators found ready sale for the seats in their possession, pairs bringing from $40 to $90
according to location. Weather conditions were not particularly satisfactory to either players or spectators. Heavy gray clouds scudded across the sky driven by a high, cold
west wind, casting a series of lights and shadows from the walls of the stadium on to the gridiron. The wind drove the kicked ball in eccentric courses which made the catching of punts very difficult.

The rain of Friday left the field
damp and soggy and several spots
where the turf was worn away were slippery with mud. The wind penetrated every portion of the stadium
but could not chill the enthusiastic thousands of Harvard and Yale adherents.

The wind blew so fiercely down
the stadium that the goal post at the entrance rocked in the gale and workmen had to pound down the earth around the supports. There was a big advantage to the team
having the western goal.

Wireless Death Cry of the Ancona Heard by Vessel Which Flashed It to Shore Stations, Calling Aid

[Associated Press Telegram]
New York, Nov. 20.—Fresh and dramatic details of what happened
in the Mediterranean on the morning of November 7, when the Ancona
was torpedoed by a submarine flying the Austrian flag were brought to New York today by the new Italian steamer Giuseppe Verdi, here on her maiden voyage. The Verdi heard the Ancona's wireless death cry,
flashed it on to shore stations which the feeble batteries of the sinking steamer could not reach and then rushed at full speed to the Ancona's aid. Her boats swung outward, her passengers lined on the deck and her officers momentarily expecting a death blow themselves from submarines known to be lurking nearby.
The Verdi steamed as near as she dared to the spot where the Ancona went down, but her lookouts saw nothing. Then turning swiftly she fled for Gibraltar and security.

Luigi Morroni, the youth at the key of the Verdi's wireless, told the story here today.

"We were about 200 miles out
from Palermo, watching for submarines, which we had been told were nearby on the morning of the seventh," he said. "At twenty miles past nine I got a signal 'S. O. S.
Franco submarine,' the message said

Then 'help.' This was followed by the Franco position and then there was more. I noticed Captain Zan-noni and relayed the Franco's message at once to the shore wireless station at Bizerta, and Cape Speron.
The ships that relayed the message brought back word from the shore stations that torpedo boats were on the way to help the Franco and get the submarine. Captain Zannoni altered the course of the Verdi, sailing into the north, so that we would avoid the Franco. We had reason to believe the submarine that attacked
the Franco was lying in wait for us
as the Verdi was a new ship on the maiden voyage. We exchanged several other messages with the relay ships concerning the Franco and submarines and while we were talking them the Ancona's wireless broke in.
I looked at the clock. It was half past ten.

"S. O. S. S. O. S. Ancona," we got. The Ancona gave her position.
I sent this message to the shore stations as soon as I got it and within a few moments after I had stopped,
the shore stations sent back an answer.

"Go to the Ancona," it said. Captain Zannoni swung his ship right
about and gave orders for full speed.
Then he called the passengers to the deck. At first he did not tell them what he had heard, but soon
decided that it would be better to do so. After this was done the stewards began to run with provisions,

water and life belts to the small boats. These were quickly loaded with emergency supplies and swung out on their davits.

The passengers then were assigned to the boats, every man, woman and child being given a number.
They were then asked to be prepared to enter the life boats as we did not know when a submarine would fire
a torpedo into the Verdi.

"It was ninety-four miles to the Ancona and we made it at top speed.
I tried several times to get the Ancona by wireless but she did not answer. Afterward we learned that her wireless had been shot away by the submarine.

"The captain went as close to the Ancona's position as he dared to take the Verdi and doubled the lookout. We slowed down and tried to find some trace of the Ancona or her boats with glasses but failed to do so. Then we turned and steamed away. We did not want to stay there and invite attack ourselves.

"We steamed away as fast as we could. The passengers remained on deck, and the life boats were still swinging out until we had cleared
the war zone."

This story was verified by several of the steamers 535 passengers,
among them being Charles B. Perry,
American consul at Torino, Italy.

Leader Mann Will Confer With Wilson, But Declares He Will Take No Orders

[Associated Press Telegram]
Washington, Nov. 20.—President Wilson today, asked Senator Gal-linger and Representative Mann, Republican leaders of the senate and house respectively, to confer with him before the opening of congress
on legislation for national defense.
The time of the conference will be arranged to suit the two leaders. The president sent invitations in accordance with his announced plan of making the fight for military preparedness along non-partisan lines.
He expects that his plans will be opposed by some Democrats, but has been assured by leaders that there is no doubt of passage of the main features.

A STREET CAR;
SIX WERE HURT

[Associated Press Telegram]
Cleveland, Nov. 20.—Six persons were injured when a Nickel Plate engine struck a street car at the Buckeye Road crossing this afternoon and hauled the car against the curb. Three of those hurt were women. There were nine passengers on the car.

CHASE GRAY WOLF
AT MILLERSBURG.

[Associated Press Telegram]
Millersburg, O., Nov. 20.—
The Fox Hunters Association
here has bought a gray wolf
from a zoological company in winter quarters here, and will stage a wolf hunt Thanksgiving day. Two hundred hunters with a large number of fox hounds, expect to participate. Farmers are planning to safeguard
sheep from the wolf when it is freed.

CHARLES W. ELIOT
IS VOTED MEDAL
BY ARTS ACADEMY

[Associated Press Telegram]
Boston, Nov. 20.—Dr. Charles W.
Eliot, president emeritus of Harvard University was notified today that by unanimous vote he had been awarded the first gold medal of the American Academy of Arts and Letters, "as a recognition of special distinction." By subscription of its members last year the academy established a gold medal "to be bestowed for the entire work of any person of either sex, not a member of the academy, who shall be a native or naturalized citizen of the United States."

It was announced that the formal presentation would take place during the winter, probably in New York.

stitute Finally Adopted Offering a Means of Settlement—Gompers Urges Ideals of Brotherhood.

[Associated Press Telegram]
San Francisco, Nov. 20.—The problem of attempting to heal a breach in the ranks of the American Federation of Labor, growing out of the presentation late last night, of a resolution calling for the suspension of the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners is before the concluding session of the federation's thirty-fifth annual convention today. The Union in question is the second largest international union in America. Had the resolution been adopted it would have meant the loss of 200,000 members of the federation and threatened the disruption of the organization according to federation officials. After a heated debate substitute resolution not calling for expulsion but offering a means of reaching an understanding was adopted. The resolution is to withdraw the charter of the carpenters' union was presented by the adjustment committee. It was the result of failure of the carpenters' organization to refrain from alleged encroaching upon jurisdiction awarded the machinists, coupled with the carpenters' union's attitude toward the federation.

In the course of the debate Samuel Gompers, president of the federation said:

"We are not safe from disintegration and failure if we lose sight of the ideals of human brotherhood."

Andrew Furuseth, secretary of the sailors' union of the Pacific coast,
declared his belief that the carpenters' union was deliberately seeking to compel the federation to withdraw the charter.

During the hour in which the charges were hurled at them and speaker after speaker taunted them with bad faith, the big delegation of carpenters sat silent.

The carpenters' union was accused of repairing, dismantling and setting up machinery in buildings in various cities, and with claiming the right to do such work, in defense of the express commands of the federation convention in Philadelphia last year.

Furuseth in his speech said:
"I prefer to charge that the claim
put forth by the carpenters is put up scientifically and purposely to bring about expulsion."

George L. Berry, president of the Printing Pressmen's union, offered the substitute resolution. He suggested that a committee of five members of international unions with President Gompers, be selected to attend the convention of carpenters and try to get them to recede from the stand they had taken. Berry's substitute was carried.

The Federation's program today
calls for the presentation of more than fifty resolutions and for the election of officers. It is believed no candidate will be renamed in opposition to President Gompers for re-election.

[Associated Press Telegram]
Madrid, Nov. 20.—Via London.—
A telegram received here today gives a wireless message said to have been sent out by the Italian steamship Verona stating that she was being pursued by a large submarine with two periscopes.

According to this telegram the submarine is accompanied by a steamer. The position of the Verona was given as latitude 40, longitude 6, off Capobalao.

The telegram was received from the town of Solier, on Majorca Island in the Mediterranean off the Spanish coast 110 miles south of Barcelona.

garians at Least Have Made Monastir Untenable
—Allies Feel Confident of Diplomatic Situation Regarding Greece—Changes
On Other Fronts Are Few.

[Associated Press Telegram]
London, Nov. 20.—Although no official confirmation has been received of the report that the Bulgarians
have captured Monastir in southwestern Serbia, little hope is felt in England that the announcement is premature. Granting it as true, the impression is growing that the entente allies arrived too late to give any service to the Serbians. The only thing certain in regard to the plight of Serbia is that the military situation is going from bad to worse.
In the north, the main Serbian armies are giving way slowly before the battering Austro-German forces which probably would move more rapidly if weather conditions were better.

It is established that the Bulgarians are in Brilap and at least have made Monastir untenable. The Anglo-French armies based on Saloniki seem to do no better than hold their positions.

Optimistic feeling in regard to the diplomatic situation in Greece still persists in England. The reasons for this optimism, however, continue to be obscure.

The weather seems to have intervened again in Russia. Little activity is reported except the retirement of the Russians to the east bank of the Styr in Galicia.

In Courtland wet weather in the swamp district evidently has brought both sides to a standstill.

On the other fronts, there are few changes. Desperate fighting continues between the Austrians and Italians. In Mesopotamia, General Nixon is reported to be in sight of Bagdad.

DEMOCRATS OF TENNESSEE ARE NAMING SENATOR

[Associated Press Telegram]
Nashville, Tenn., Nov. 20.—Democrats today are balloting in a primary election to select a nominee for United States senator for the term beginning March 4, 1917. The run off, if one is necessary, will be December 15. The candidates are Senator Luke Lea, who seeks re-nomination; former Governor M. R.
Patterson, and Representative K. D.
McKellar of the Tenth Congressional district.

The senator will be elected at the November, 1916, election. Today's primary is the second in the history of the party in Tennessee.

PROGRESSIVES
IN CONFERENCE
AT KANSAS CITY

Kansas City, Nov. 20.—A conference of leaders of the Progressive party in Missouri began here today with much interest injected into the meeting by the presence of George W. Perkins of New York, chairman of the national executive committee of the party. Plans of the leaders called for an all-day meeting, including a luncheon in honor of Mr.
Perkins. It was expected before the conference concluded that the future of the party in the state would be decided.

Verona states that she eluded the submarine in the fog.

The Verona was scheduled to sail
from Genoa November 9, touching at Naples, November 10, and Palermo, November 11 on her way to New York. No word of her sailing, however, has been received.

Latitude 40, longitude 6, is a point on the western Mediterranean
about 110 miles west of Sardinia.
The Verona is owned by the Italia
Societa di Navigazione a Vapore
which also owned the Ancona, sunk
recently by a submarine in the Mediterranean. The Verona has been engaged for several years in passenger service between New York and Italian ports. She is 3,261 tons gross, 482 feet long and was built in Genoa in 1908.

Befriending the Girl.

The Y. W. C. A. on the even of its campaign for maintenance, invokes the good will of the community, and the spirit of benevolence in the hearts of our people, on behalf of the institution whose sole ambition and purpose is to befriend the girl, to awaken in her, high ideals of life, and a desire for Christian service to others; asks for the prayers of the churches, and favorable ministerial comment from their pulpits on the morrow; appeals to the paternal wisdom and the maternal heart of our city, that they may counsel together over the needs of girlhood and as to, how far they may help to advance its interests and welfare.

The Y. W. C. A. prizes the generous intention, the kindly thought and good will which he back of the gift, not only because it is enhanced thereby, but because these invisible forces form the very substance out of which the gift comes forth. It values them, because they indicate that the Association has found its place in the city and that it has been adopted by the community as a field of Christian work dedicated to the care of young womanhood—a field that is peculiarly the province of the Young Women's Christian Association.

Although this organization never refuses to succor and befriend the most desolate hopeless case that can be brought to its doors, yet its purpose is not redemptive. It seeks rather to get hold of the girl before youth, ignorance, friendlessness, homelessness and temptation have done their deadly work and to aid her to grow to the stature of useful womanhood.

Such work lies properly within the fold of Christian benevolence. The Association asks for maintenance? yes, but addresses itself also to the spirit of giving, and asks that every dollar may come forth freighted with love and good will and parental interest in our young womanhood.

Social Lines and Trade.

The Washington newspaper reporters are gossiping about the relations of "Society" to Mrs. Galt, the president's fiancée. She is reported to have been snubbed in the past by some social circles because she was "in trade." Her offense consisted in being the proprietor of a large jewelry business inherited from her husband.

There has been a tendency among some of the "Smart Sets," to draw social lines against small merchants and their families. The golden power of the dollar, however, is a powerful argument with social arbiters. If a man conducts only a small retail business, he and his family may be doomed to outer darkness. But if his business grows and if he makes money, he is a gentleman and entitled to enter with the elect. And yet some people say this is a democratic country.

The falsity of all this needs no argument. The man with a small business and his family, may have all social graces and charm of

PURE, RICH BLOOD
MADE BY HOOD'S

Pure blood enables the stomach, liver and other digestive organs to do their work properly. Without it they are sluggish, there is loss of appetite, sometimes faintness, a deranged state of the intestines, and, in general, all the symptoms of dyspepsia.

Hood's Sarsaparilla makes pure blood, and this is why it is so very successful in the treatment of so many ailments. Get it today.

manners. The big fellow may by nature be a hog, whose arrogance and ostentation are multiplied by the power of money. It is the inability of so many cliques to look beneath the veneer that argues one with the circles which in so many places assert themselves to be "Society."

As a whole American life is not deeply affected by tinsel and tawdriness. In many places the old democratic spirit of democracy still lives and people are accepted and classified on their merits. The people who have always had wealth are indifferent to it. Frequently they choose friends among those of small means, preferring their simplicity and sincerity.

Snobishness occurs much more among the "climbers," the newly rich, the recently arrived, who are not quite sure of themselves and their position. They are fearful of embarrassing relations with people outside the pale, and can afford to swap social favors only for value received.

Help the Y. W. C. A.

Three years ago the Young Women's Christian Association was organized in Newark. In a short campaign funds were subscribed to maintain the work of the organization for a period of three years. Those who conducted the campaign being thoroughly interested in establishing the Y. W. C. A. in Newark, had faith in its success and were enthusiastic in their efforts.

The reports of the various committees show that great good has been accomplished and that there is urgent need for the work to continue. The Y. W. C. A. is a practical institution. It is an organization that does things. It helps girls to help themselves and it helps those who are in special need of assistance.

There is not a shadow of doubt as to the advisability of continuing the work of the Y. W. C. A. in this city. What has been accomplished in the three short years of the association's life in Newark is only the beginning of the greater things in the future. Newark needs the Y. W. C. A. and Newark people should not fail to rally to its support. Those who are able and nearly everybody is able to give at least a little, are asked to respond quickly and cheerfully when solicitation is made next week.

The Craze for Antiques.

There was some interesting talk about the antique rug business in a recent New York trial, in which it was alleged that a rug costing only 80 francs in Paris was "antiqued" and sold for $12,000. In another case it was stated that antique treatment worth $400 being given to a rug cost $250, is sold for $15,000. If deceptions of such magnitude exist they are of course unusual. But in a small way this kind of thing is going on all the time and many people are deceived particularly as respects old furniture.

The American furniture makers of a hundred or more years ago had a great eye for simple and graceful lines. The work of that primitive age was superior to most of the things you see in the parlors of the wealthy today. It is natural that stuff that is both old and superior should bring fancy prices.

In older parts of the country attending auctions of household furniture in the rural districts is one of the diversions of the idle rich. Many impetuous amateurs also flock thither hoping for inexpensive "finds." These are rare as good work is pretty well snapped up and most people know its value. If a family has been socially prominent its goods are likely to bring prices out of proportion to intrinsic worth.

The demand being such, naturally the market is full of imitations. Some dealers state honestly that their stock consists of copies. Others feel that what the buyers don't know won't hurt them.

When one has old furniture in the family, it seems a part of family spirit to hang on to it. It then suggests an ancestry with a background of culture. A house full of old furnishings, collected by skilled amateurs, is very interesting. But the average person who sets out to acquire nice furniture is likely to buy some gold bricks. Unless he has a cultivated taste, he may fill his house with a melange that is neither beautiful, comfortable or livable.

Trinity Men's Club.

The Men's Club of Trinity church made up of men of all denominations—business men, lawyers, doctors, mechanics, preachers, teachers, dentists—held its first meeting of the season last night. In spite of the storm there was a good attendance. The turkey dinner was especially good and the address of Judge Wanamaker was splendid. Reference to the meeting may be seen in the news columns of this paper.

The Rev. L. P. Franklin, rector of Trinity church had a happy thought when he suggested the formation of the Men's Club. Monthly meetings were held last year and a similar program is to be carried out this season. The committees in charge have been particularly fortunate in the selection of speakers, among them being leading men of the state. Last night's address "The Relation of Religion to Government" was particularly forceful and interesting. Judge Wanamaker's tribute to Abraham Lincoln being most beautiful and eloquent.

A Changing Viewpoint.

(Chicago Herald.)

A baby was born in Chicago the other day over which a discussion has arisen which gives striking evidence of a change in social viewpoints that has come about during the last few years. It also gives evidence, perhaps, of a fundamental increase in the common stock of mental and moral courage, and of the general capacity to take long views of human welfare.

For this baby is, unhappily, unlike most babies in that its arrival into sentient life cannot be a cause for joy, but only for pity. It has come into the world so misformed that if it lived it would grow into a physical, a mental and probably a moral defective. That is the deliberate, and sorrowful, judgment of science.

If just let alone this baby would die. If just given the care ordinarily necessary for newborn babies it still would die. Science says, however, that by taking certain special measures the baby could still be kept alive—at least for a time. Just kept physically alive; that's all. Science confesses that all its resources can go no farther; that with all it can do the baby will never be able to take any save a burden's place in the human scheme.

Should science refrain from taking the special measure which would for a time at least, preserve physical life, and no more? The representative of science upon whom the responsibility of decision has fallen says "No"; that his duty to the welfare of the race, and to save the baby from a life which would not be a truly human life, is to stand pitifully beside this baby and let it die!

Some of the thousands who are discussing the ethical problem involved agree. More, perhaps, disagree. It is perhaps the hardest of all human problems. This is not an attempt at its decision. This is merely a pointing out that a few years ago only here and there a lonely voice would have ratified the judgment of science. There is a changing viewpoint on the subject. Ten years hence the conflict of moral opinion will be less acute and the decision more harmonious. We move morally, whether up or down.

An American.

(Henry Cabot Lodge.)

After all, what is it to be an American? Surely it does not consist in the number of generations merely which separate the individual from his forefathers, who first settled here. Washington was fourth in descent from the first American of his name, while Lincoln was in the sixth generation. This difference certainly constitutes no real distinction. There are people today, not many luckily, whose families have been here for 250 years, and who are as utterly un-American as it is possible to be, while there are others, whose fathers were immigrants, who are as intensely American as anyone can desire or imagine.

Once more, what is it to be an American people? Is it not to have an abiding and moving faith in the future and in the destiny of America?—something above and beyond the patriotism and love which every man whose soul is not dead feels for the land of his birth. Is it not to be national and not sectional, independent and not colonial?

Daniels' Wine Mess Order.

Admiral Edwards calls attention to the fact that the order of Secretary Daniels, extending the prohibition of the wine mess to the commissioned officers, has never been rescinded, though it was expected to be sooner or later. But there is now no prospect of it. The order meets with general approval. It recognized no caste in this country. If the wine mess was good for the officers it was likewise for the men, but the latter conclusion could not be admitted, for long ago liquor was denied the men. Now to let officers have it would be a slight recognition of aristocracy or privilege in the navy, a suspicion that had already become widespread. So the order was not more a temperance measure than it was an equality decree. It was thought at first that the president would revoke the order, but he has not done so, and he never will, even if he is a Democrat.

Greek Ideal of Commonwealth Not Possible in Modern Republics

By Dr. JOHN HENRY MACCRACKEN,
President of Lafayette College

DEPRECATE the present tendency of certain political philosophers, who would solve all society's ills by extending the functions of the state.

As a rule the sociology of these philosophers is so narrow that they know no men in whom the real reason for acts purporting to be acts springing from a sense of duty or from natural benevolence is not either love of gain or love of fame or love of power. They mistrust without a hearing any financial relation between the state treasury and voluntary enterprises.

In New York they even questioned at the constitutional convention the exemption of voluntary colleges and voluntary churches from taxation. They not only contend for government ownership of express companies, railroads and telephones, but regard the altruism of the carrier on the rural free delivery route as more orthodox than that of the CIRCUIT RIDER AND CONFOUND THE GOVERNMENT PAYROLL WITH THE ANGELS LIST OF THOSE WHO, LIKE ABOL, LOVE THEIR FELLOW MEN.

They have replaced the outworn creed, "The king can do no wrong" with the modern, extremely socialistic doctrine, "No one can do right unless he be in the pay and wear the uniform of the state." Much, I admit, is to be said for the Greek ideal of the commonwealth, founded that we may live and continue; that we may live well; a moral personality, undertaking whatever shall make its citizens better and happier.

IT IS AN IDEAL, HOWEVER, POSSIBLE ONLY IN A FAR MORE HOMOGENEOUS POPULATION THAN ANY MODERN REPUBLIC HAS YET POSSESSED.

Rippling Rhymes

Happy Endings.
The yarn with happy ending may quite old-fashioned be, but it is often lending much happiness to me. Too many authors bore us with tales that rend the heart, and then stand up before us and talk about their Art. I like the kind of story that leads aggressive chaps through perils dire and gory, and fifty kinds of scrap. The hero and the maiden should meet all sorts of woe, and for a time be wadin' in snarles set by the foe; that slimy Joe, exulting, should triumph for a while, and then go cata-pulting out to the garbage pile. The villainous and sinful should get the hook, say I, while Virtue, glad and grinnin', gets closer to the pie. It's useless, tiresome prosing, the yarn the author tells, unless we find it closing with sound of wedding bells. And while the hero's banking his hard-earned roll of kale, the villain should be clanking his fetters in a jail. When to the bookstore wending for something to peruse, look for the happy ending—pay nothing for the blues.

Granville

(Special to Advocate.)
Granville, Nov., 20.—Quite the prettiest and most enjoyable of the season's social affairs was that given at the Swartz residence in Elm street yesterday afternoon at which Miss Dorothy Swartz, the bride-to-be, was hostess. The girls of Delta Omicron sorority, of which Miss Swartz is a charter member, with a few other guests were present, the company numbering about twenty. The interesting feature of the evening was the "gallery of musical stars" exhibited by the hostess on the walls of the library and living room which furnished occupation for the company in an effort to identify them. In this delightful contest the first prize, a handsome framed picture, was awarded to Miss Irene Bonshire of Newark, and the consolation prize to Miss Alioret Chrysler, the honor guest. This latter prize furnished the surprise of the evening, being delivered with a clever limerick setting forth the fact that it was a diamond solitaire given as a betrothal pledge by Mr. Tom Morrow to the fair recipient, with the wedding set for early spring. Miss Chrysler received the good wishes of the company after which a delicious course luncheon was served. Mrs. Frank Withoff of Georgia, was the only out of town guest.

The Women's Missionary Society of the Presbyterian church held its annual praise meeting in the church parlors yesterday afternoon. Mrs. William Howe, the president, conducting the devotional service with which the meeting opened. Roll call by the secretary, Mrs. E. F. Cook, showed an unusually large attendance of members. After the customary routine business, a delightful program was enjoyed. Mrs. Grant Jones, a returned missionary from India, whose present residence is in Newark, gave the principal address, speaking in particular of the work being done by the Christianized heathen in the Orient. Her talk was eloquent and inspiring, and everyone present felt the uplift. At its conclusion, Mrs. W. D. Fulton of Newark, Presbyterian president, gave an interesting account of the work of home societies. The enjoyment of the occasion was heightened by charmingly rendered vocal solos by Mrs. Karl Eschman and Mrs. J. W. Rohrer. The social which followed was greatly enjoyed, during which time delicious refreshments were served by a committee of which Miss May Stark was chairman. Collections for the afternoon amounted to $54.75, with pledges amounting to much more.

The Social Union entertainment, given in the Baptist church parlors last evening by Mrs. David Rogers and the women of the third division, was a great success. The affair was planned as a reception to the new comers in the congregation, and despite the inclement weather about 75 were present. Mr. and Mrs. Sapp of Cincinnati, Prof. and Mrs. Johnston and Mrs. Reynolds, recently settled in Granville, were honor guests of the occasion. The parlors were transformed by their decorations of near-Thanksgiving cheer, artistically arranged by Mrs. Marie Sinsabaugh and Miss Gladys Spencer. A brief program of music and readings as rendered by Miss Rockwood, Miss Lelia Brown, Miss Eva Wright, Mrs. Dorothy Swartz and Mrs. J. E. Megaw, proved delightful in the extreme, and the remainder of the evening was devoted to a grand march and games by the young people. Mrs. Rockwood directed the activities of the cuisine in which she was ably assisted by Mrs. Sinsabaugh, Miss Mary Wilson, Miss Mary Wilcox and others.

People are beginning to anticipate the various church bazaars and suppers which are scheduled in the near future. That of the missionary societies of the Methodist church will be held in their church parlors on Wednesday, Nov. 24, beginning at 2 p. m.

Rev. and Mrs. D. J. Smith have gone to Jackson, O., to visit their son-in-law and daughter, Rev. and Mrs. T. R. Watson, until after Thanksgiving.

Rev. E. D. Barnes, pastor of the Presbyterian church will conduct services in that house both morning and evening. Subject for the morning, "The Nation's Opportunity for Christ," for the evening, "Solomon's Fool." A cordial invitation is extended to all not wishing elsewhere. Rev. Mr. Barnes will deliver the Thanksgiving sermon in the Methodist church on Thursday.

There will be the regular services in the Methodist church on Sunday, conducted by the pastor, Rev. Otto Giesen. At 10 a. m., "How Jesus Draws All Men Unto Him," at 7 p. m. evangelistic services.

In St. Luke's church, Sunday next before Advent, Sunday school at 9:30 a. m.; morning prayer and sermon at 10 a. m.; evening prayer and sermon at 7 p. m. All are cordially invited.

In the Baptist church the regular church services will be conducted by the pastor, Rev. Millard Breisford. Mrs. E. Barnes with her two children and her house guest, Miss Irene Kline, have left for a visit of several weeks' duration at her old home in Verona, N. Y.

A feature of the annual initiation home-coming banquet of the Alpha Eta of Beta Theta Pi held in the chapter house Saturday evening was the presentation by Edward A. MRS. J. B. JONES, President

MRS. FRANK L. JOHNSON, Secretary

The campaign for funds with which to operate the Newark Y. W. C. A. starts Monday. There is every reason why the movement should succeed, none why it should fail. The good work accomplished by this organization which was first introduced to Newark three years ago has been told in part through the committee reports published in The Advocate during this week. Additional reports appear in today's paper. Others will follow next week.

The Y. W. C. A. is a great institution that is doing a great work. No other institution has ever attempted to do what the Newark "Y" is successfully doing.

The efficient president of the organization is Mrs. J. B. Jones of North Fourth street and the capable secretary of the Board of Directors is Mrs. Frank L. Johnson whose husband is the general secretary of the Newark Y. M. C. A.

the best record for all-around efficiency as a college man.

(Coat of Arms)
"Won by"
Great interest has been aroused in the chapter in this trophy which will be awarded the first time next spring. It is the most splendid thing of its sort thus far established in the fraternity.

A MATERNITY SUIT.

Navy blue gaberdine, with a circular skirt finished at the waist line with a shirred belt, which disguises the rubber tape, is developed in this suit. The hip length coat has an adjustable belt, revers collar and trim cuffs. A wide brimmed sailor and a beautiful fox scarf complete the outdoor costume. Fine quality serges would also be suitable for this design.

Y. W. C. A. enthusiasm means Y. W. C. A. work. Get your neighbor's interest and subscription—but give your own first.

Gained Eighteen Pounds After Using Three Bottles of Peruna

Mrs. Hattie Hamilton, No. 518 Glen Ave., Lakewood, Ky., writes: "I have taken two bottles of Peruna and commenced on the third one. I did not really need the third one, but thought it best to take another bottle. I have always weighed 102 pounds, but since I began taking Peruna I weigh 120, for the first time in all of my life, and I am now 32 years old. Your medicine has surely done me a great deal of good, and I have recommended it to several others who have begun taking it. My mother, who is 75 years old, has taken down so weak she could scarcely walk. She took two bottles of Peruna and is fleshier and looking well."

On a booklet, telling you how to keep well, free to all.

Those who object to liquid medicines can now procure Peruna Tablets.

All the styles and colors of the hour are here, we should say those that have been endorsed by the fashion critics. The crepe de-chines, the Georgette crepes, the Pussy Willows, the Radium silks, the Taffetas, the Chiffon and Radium laces, all with that distinctiveness, with that individual touch, impossible to describe justly.

To COME TO SCHIFF'S WAIST DEPARTMENT is LIKE VISITING A FAMOUS ART GALLERY, and too, YOU NEVER PAY MORE AT SCHIFF'S—IN FACT MUCH LESS.

Music

On Wednesday evening, Nov. 17, the Columbus Musical Society gave a concert in Rankin hall—the first of a series of six to be given this season, and Mrs. Chandler Tucker took part in the program, as a guest artist from the Women's Music Club of this city.

Mrs. Tucker, who was ably accompanied by Mrs. Wm. Tucker, delightfully sang three numbers: "When the Roses Bloom," by Reichert, "The Dove," by Sander Ronald, and "So, Hear the Gentle Lark," by Bishop—all three selections being rendered with clearness of enunciation, freshness of tone and sincerity of feeling.

Her pleasing voice was perhaps heard to better advantage in the last number, an old composition of quaint beauty peculiarly fitted to her voice, which is rather difficult of classification, being either a coloratura of unusual volume, or a lyric of unusual flexibility.

Mr. Isidor Mattlin, who has been heard by the members of the Music Club in Newark, played the Second Rhapsody by Liszt, with sureness, cleanliness of technique, and faultless rhythm, working up to the stirring climax with dramatic intensity.

The Columbus Musical Society will, in exchange, send as a guest artist, Miss Goldie Mede, violinist, to play before the Newark club, on January 6, when will be held an open meeting of that organization, with a small fee of admission charged.

WALL STREET
(Associated Press Telegram)

New York, Nov. 20.—The lethargy and lower price trend which marked yesterday's trading was continued today, war shares and automobile issues being especially heavy. Almost the sole exception was Mercantile Marine Preferred which recovered a point of its recent decline. Canadian Pacific was a point lower at 132 1/2 with very slight changes in other rails. Tennessee Copper, which ranks as a war stock, was down 2 1/2, at 56 1/2. Steel made a nominal reaction on light offerings.

LEGAL NOTICE.
Notice is hereby given that on the 20th day of November, 1915, the Trustees of the Central Church of Christ of Newark, Ohio, filed their petition in the common Pleas Court of Licking County, Ohio, asking for authority to sell the following real estate: Situated in the town of Ohio, County of Licking and City of Newark. Being lots Nos. 1952 and 1953 in John Moser's addition to said city of Newark, except 35 feet of the east end of said lots, all of which is more particularly described in the deed of Oliver C. Larson to the Trustees of the Central Church of Christ of Newark, Ohio, dated June 17th, 1914, and recorded in Volume 225, Page 187 of Licking County Deed Records.

CHARLIE WAS VERY LIKELY WRONG ABOUT HER HUSBAND WANTING TO LAUGH

(Copyright, 1915, by I. Kerples. By arrangement with Essanay Co.)

BETTER WAGES, BETTER POSITIONS, BETTER HOMES

Mrs. Ernest T. Johnson, the newly elected chairman of the educational committee of the Y. W. C. A. comes to her work with the promise of great usefulness to the Association, and to the girls who are in the classes under her charge. Concerned with education as it relates to the Y. W. C. A., convinced of the benefit which domestic science gives to home-making and home-keeping, inspired by her own motherhood with a knowledge of the needs of girls, Mrs. Johnson brings to her committee the assurance of increased growth and activity in all its classes. Mrs. Johnson says:

It is a recognized fact that many girls go into industrial and mercantile employment in their teens, forced so to do by economic necessity. They find as time goes on that they are unlearned and unskilled. Competition is great. They find themselves unable to keep a permanent position, and changing employers does not tend to better wages or conditions. A return to the public schools is impossible and humiliating.

It is not plain that the Y. W. C. A. comes into a large unoccupied field for supplementary education? This department of the Y. W. C. A. aims to offer educational opportunities under Christian influence for young women according to local conditions; educational help along lines of occupational improvement; inspiration for mental development; preparation for special service; aid to young women in their preparation for wage earning on a self-respecting basis and to befriend the young woman who through misfortune or other cause is unprepared for life; helping her to find her place and to fill it efficiently.

In its educational work the Y. W. C. A. includes such features as a reading room and library, lectures, demonstrations and talks on subjects of practical and current interest to women with a wide range of topics; private tutoring of small groups with very special needs; classes in household arts, sewing, millinery, cooking, serving; classes in Bible study.

The end in view is the symmetrical development of the young woman. According to the last annual report in class work alone, 142 Y. W. C. A. enrolled 20,512 girls and women in household arts and 131 Associations enrolled 13,600 in elementary, advanced and general courses, making a grand total of 34,112. In the Newark Y. W. C. A. there have been classes in sewing, dressmaking, millinery, cooking, English for foreigners, Bible study, Christmas novelties. There is a glee club and a children's sewing class.

A demonstration of cooking and sewing was made for the trustees of the Y. W. C. A., they being the guests at a dinner given in charge of the domestic science class.

One employed girl took the course in cooking just previous to her marriage. Was she not wise? Girls have learned to trim their own hats, thus saving many dollars.

What is the benefit of the Association's education department? Better Wages, Better Positions, Better Homes.

RUB RHEUMATIC, ACHING JOINTS AND STOP PAIN

Instant relief with small trial bottle of old, penetrating "St. Jacob's Oil."

Rheumatism is "pain" only. Not one case in fifty requires internal treatment. Stop drugging! Rub soothing, penetrating "St. Jacob's Oil" right into your sore, stiff aching joints, and relief comes instantly. "St. Jacob's Oil" is a harmless rheumatism liniment which never disappoints and can not burn the skin.

Limber up! Quit complaining! Get a small trial bottle of old, honest "St. Jacob's Oil" at any drug store, and in just a moment you'll be free from rheumatic pain, soreness and stiffness. Don't suffer! Relief awaits you. "St. Jacob's Oil" is just as good for sciatica, neuralgia, lumbago, backache, sprains.

Have Healthy, Strong, Beautiful Eyes. Cuticura and Eye-Liniment used Marine Eye Remedy many years before it was offered as a Domestic Eye Medicine. Buy Marine Eye Remedy—Guaranteed to Give Relief. It is the only eye medicine that is safe for the eyes.

WILL TEUTONS ATTEMPT TO TAKE EGYPT?

Territory across which the Teutonic allies would have to pass in an attack on Egypt from Constantinople.

Now that the Teutons have hacked their way through Serbia and made the way clear to Constantinople, will they attempt to press on and attack Egypt? War experts believe not, as the distance to be traversed is too great.

Long Sermons.

Perhaps the lengthiest sermons on record were preached by Isaac Barrow. On one occasion when preaching in Westminster abbey, at a time when visitors were shown around the place after the sermon for a fee, he kept on so long that the authorities "censured the organ to play till they had blown him down." When he preached on charity before the lord mayor and aldermen the sermon lasted three and a half hours, and if the collection came after that it probably suffered. And, again, when he had arranged to preach on the words "He that uttereth a slander is a liar," precautions were taken beforehand, and he was prevailed on to preach only the half relating to slander, leaving out that which had to do with lies. In this way he managed to finish in one hour and a half. Very likely some of his hearers wished that he was not quite so fond of work.—London Standard.

Turkish School Children.

Turkish children recite their lessons all together in the old fashioned schools, and if you could hear them you would think that you had gone into Wonderland with Alice, where "things wouldn't come straight." The little girls go to school in groups, and with them is always an old servant who carries all their books on what looks for all the world like a small clothes tree. The boys go and come in two long lines attended by their teacher. They carry their own books and wear long trousers and fezzes exactly like their fathers. Some of the tiny girls carry their own little tables and drawing boards. In the gipsy village in Scutari the children learn their lessons by songs in the street. They stand in a circle with a big girl in the middle, and they get noisier and noisier the more interested they grow.—Lindamira Harbeson in St. Nicholas.

Khartum.

Khartum owes its existence to an oriental form of treachery. When Khedive Mohammed Ali invaded the Sudan in 1820 he marched triumphantly to Shendi, where his troops were entertained at a banquet by the submissive natives. But while the Khedive's high officials were seated at the feast they shared the fate of the viands and were themselves reduced to funeral baked meats. Full of fury, the army fell on Shendi and demolished it. Marching south, the invaders reached the junction of the Blue Nile and White Nile. With the conqueror's instinct they recognized that the strip of land, with its few fishermen's huts of straw, formed ideal strategical headquarters, so Khartum finally grew into the most sensitive part of the Sudan organism.

Wire Wound Guns.

One of the chief sources of strength in big guns lies in the miles and miles of steel ribbon with which the tube is reinforced. This ribbon, one-sixteenth of an inch thick and about a quarter of an inch wide, is wound around the tube or core of the great cannon. On a twelve inch gun about 130 miles of the ribbon is wound, a weight of fifteen tons. The ribbon has a tensile strength of 100 tons per square inch.

His Apology.

Mrs. Minks—I don't want to make a scene, but that man over there is staring at me very offensively. Mr. Minks—He is, eh? I'll speak to him. Mrs. Minks (a few moments later)—Did he apologize? Mr. Minks—Yes. He said he was looking for his mother and thought at first that you were she.

The First Museum.

The first museum was part of the palace of Alexandria, where learned men were maintained at the public cost, just as eminent public servants were in the Prytaneum at Athens. Its foundation is attributed to Ptolemy the First, about 300 B. C.

Fighters Who See No Battle.

During a sea fight the engine room men tend the great engines of a battleship with all the care that they would bestow upon the same delicate yet mighty mechanism in time of peace, roaming listlessly, yet with a definite purpose, around the engine room with oil cans in hand bestowing drops of lubricant here and there as required. Theirs and the stokers' is almost—not quite—the hardest part of the whole grim drama of a naval battle, for they are absolutely cut off from the fight and are only cognizant of it by the quivering of their ship as the great turrets over their heads fire or as the enemy's shells thud against the armor or when some stray shot finds its way through the steel wall and the bunkers to the boilers. Such an event blends a whole stockhold in one frenzied orgy of death—death by exploding shell and scattering fragments of steel; death by awful wounds from flying, burning coals or death by scalding, hissing, blinding steam as the water tubes burst all around them.—London Tit-Bits.

Keir Hardie's Rough Attire.

James Keir Hardie, the British labor leader, never relinquished his working class garb, and many were the occasions when his rough attire led to mistakes on the part of others. One story is that Keir Hardie, then many years an M. P., was challenged by a policeman outside the house of commons. The officer asked Mr. Hardie if he was working there. "Yes," "On the roof?" (which was undergoing repair). "No," answered the leader of the Independent Labor party, "on the floor." Another time a landlady refused to let him have rooms until he gave references. He looked too rough. The good woman was astonished when Mr. Hardie named a number of the most prominent men in parliament. He was arrested in Belgium once on suspicion of being in collusion with a notorious anarchist whom the police had detained. The Belgian police never could understand why a British M. P. was not elaborately attired.—Philadelphia Ledger.

How to Slay a Grudge.

"I forgave you once, and I won't forgive you again." This is what we heard one brother say to another who had unwittingly broken his chisel for the second time. He would not listen to an explanation. "You shall not use another of my tools," he continued. The next day he wanted to borrow a book from that brother. But before he asked for it he remembered he had said he would not lend his tools any more. He said to himself: "Well, I don't care if I did. He owes me something for breaking the tool, so I will just ask for the book." And he did. "Certainly you can have it and keep it as long as you want it," replied the brother without a bit of grudge in his heart. The effect was good, for the very next day he asked his brother to go with him into the tool room, and there he said, "You can use any of them if you wish, only please be careful not to break them." The grudge had disappeared.—Christian Herald.

The Oldest Death Sentence.

The oldest death sentence extant is found in the Amherst papyrus containing the trials of state criminals in Egypt, about 1300 B. C. The criminal in this case was found guilty of magic, which his judges state "was worthy of death, which he carried out, and he killed himself," apparently by stabbing, as in the Japanese harakiri, which is also of very ancient origin. Among less civilized peoples drowning would seem to have been the earliest method of legal punishment, for about 450 B. C. the Britons killed their criminals by throwing them into a quagmire. Of other than capital punishments the oldest recorded comes from Chaldean, where it was enacted some 6,000 years ago that when any one maimed a slave "the hand that they offended should pay him each day."—New York Times.

A GOOD HOME FOR THE GIRLS Y. W. C. A. IS

Mrs. J. A. Mitchell, chairman of the house committee of the Newark Y. W. C. A. has been vitally interested in the Y. W. C. A. from its inception to the present time. The success of the boarding home and cafeteria are due to her efficiency and to her able administration of the affairs of the house through her committee. The pleasing interior of the home, its simple decorations and plain furnishings, the blending of economy with artistic effect evince the skill of both chairman and committee.

Of all the activities of the Y. W. C. A., there is no more important branch of its service than the boarding department. Doubtless many people have never realized what it means to girls who for various reasons are deprived of their own homes, to find so safe, comfortable and pleasant a substitute as the Y. W. C. A. affords them.

During the past three years girls from every walk of life have enjoyed its hospitality, some of them girls who for a time were without money to pay for anything. They were well fed, well cared for, and surrounded by every influence that would tend to protect them morally and physically, when they needed it most. Is it not of value to the employer as well as the business girl for her to have the advantage of such surroundings? Can she fail to be finer and more efficient because of them?

It is becoming more and more the custom of women who are travelling or stopping in a town for a few days to seek the Y. W. C. A. It is safe place for women and they know they will find good food with clean, comfortable quarters at the minimum price. The Newark "Y" has entertained as many as fourteen transients in one month, though there is but one guest room at their service.

The fact that there has been for some time a waiting list of applicants for rooms is an unanswerable proof that there is need for such a boarding home, and shows that the girls think of it. At present there are twenty regular boarders, the full capacity of the house. Think what it means to a girl earning five dollars a week to be able to get board and a good room for three dollars. The big item of her expense is covered and she knows just what margin she has for clothes and other necessities. Here she has agreeable companionship and social influences, while the needs of her spiritual life are of supreme importance to the wise good women who have her welfare in charge.

The last word to be said, friend contributor, to the credit of the boarding home is that it is a paying feature of the work.

Under the thrifty management of the house committee this department has always paid for all food supplies; it has always paid its proportion of salaries, light and fuel and frequently half of the rent.

The noon luncheon, too, are an attractive and lucrative feature of this department boarding an average of about forty girls each day, beside the house boarders. An occasional masculine has strayed in and found himself welcome, found also that there is no more wholesome and satisfactory lunch to be had than the Y. W. C. A. serves for fifteen cents.

To the economical administration of the house committee is largely due the success of the boarding home Mrs. Pierce has filled the difficult position of capable housekeeper and sympathetic mother to the girls, in a way to have earned their support and confidence to give her.

Every one must realize that a philanthropic work to accomplish what it purposes to do, can not be self-supporting, but the Y. W. C. A. boarding house is proud to ask the public support on such a showing.

There is more Cataract in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Cataract to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. The "Cataract Cure" manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only Constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally, it acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address: F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O. Sold by druggists, 75c. ## "September Morn"

Girls—Well, Just Come and See for Yourself—The Finest Buds From the Garden of Bliss—Hesitation Waltzes and Tangoists.

Rowland & Clifford's big LaSalle Opera House (Chicago) success is coming in all its glory. Girls? Well, we should say so. Cute! Good-looking! Good voices! Dancers of the Tango and Hesitation Waltz Kind! A large bunch of Principals well known to the music loving public and identified with all big musical comedy successes.

Dainty Maude Potter is seen in the newest dances now in vogue in Paris. Nat Phillips, Russell Price and Adrian Graff the popular musical comedy stars also have big parts. The music is of the catchy, whistling kind that sends you home in a joyful mood. Among the many song hits (sung only in "September Morn") we find:
"When a Little Boy Loves a Little Girl."
"In Berlin."
"Oh, You September Morn."
"Everybody's Tango Crazy."
"A Spare-Rib From the Butcher Shop of Life."
"Beautiful Dreams I'm Dreaming."

"The Sun Shade Girl."
"Where is the Pleasure in Wine and Song, if the Woman was Not There?"

Summing it up, it's a great big musical show that goes with a bang and a rush, put together to amuse the much abused theatre going public. A company of fifty is underlined to play at the Auditorium theatre on Thursday, Nov. 25th, matinee and night and the seat sale starts Tuesday at 10 a. m.

$20,000 DAM BUILT FOR BIG SCENE IN FOX'S
"THE LITTLE GYPSY"

It was in the picturesque and mountainous region "way back" of Cuddebackville, which, as its name implies is itself "way back" that Oscar C. Apfel, director of the latest William Fox production "The Little Gypsy" erected what is perhaps to date the most ambitious structure yet attempted by a motion picture producer, accustomed as the public has become to seeing upon the screen entire "cities" and "streets" the sole purpose of whose construction was their ultimate destruction for scenic effect. The dam that Apfel built consumed the labors of one hundred men working on day and night shifts for a solid month. It was as solidly constructed of stone and concrete as if destined to be a permanent structure. It was therefore a severe set-back to the director when after all his labors a freshet swelled the Cuddebackville Creek across which the retaining wall had been constructed and swept it out of existence as if it had never been.

Nothing discouraged however, the director set his forces to work as soon as the flood subsided and the task was resumed with renewed energy. Further difficulty was then encountered when it was discovered that faithfully as the dam had been built there was yet a leak at its base which threatened its existence. Still undaunted Mr. Apfel sent post haste to Port Jarvis, the nearest large town for five hundred yards of stout cotton cloth and sacking. Out of these bags were made and filled with sand and sunk to the bottom of the dam. The plan succeeded and when the great dam scene—conceded to be the most thrilling and wonderful effect yet constructed for "the pictures," is beheld upon the screen there is no doubt but that it will be hailed as an achievement which will go down in photo-dramatic history as a triumph of the producer's art.

PRESS OPINIONS ON "THE REGENERATION."

N. Y. World—"A powerful drama of brilliant power and depth. A play to move and sway with the deep undercurrents of human life and emotion—fires and inspires with masterly skill and deft dramatic work."

N. Y. Sun—"Swept a vast audience off its feet—caused cheers to resound after the tremendous climax—a great big success that will stay long on Broadway in our estimation."

N. Y. Telegraph (by Frank J. Price)—"I predict for The Regeneration a great success—will stay on Broadway for some time—really moving and gripping."

N. Y. Press—"A drama that is refreshingly powerful and true—unfolds a touching and dramatic story—thrills aptly and swift action from start to finish."

N. Y. Times—"Rarely is a drama of such real merit presented on Broadway—the authors are to be congratulated on a real play of trenchant worth and heart-reaching appeal."

IRENE FENWICK IN
"THE SENTIMENTAL LADY"

"The Sentimental Lady" in which Irene Fenwick displays to exceptional advantage the versatile talent that has impelled the play-governs of this country* to try to place her in the front rank of American actresses, will be offered as the special feature at Auditorium theatre tomorrow matinee and night. As its title implies, it is a love story interwoven with the cunning of a scoundrel man who stood prepared to sacrifice not only a girl's material wealth, but her happiness as well. The schemer is more than matched by a young attorney who wins the girl's admiration and finally love by a daring, dangerous, heroic swim he undertakes in her behalf.

"The Sentimental Lady" is a Kleine photo drama written by Owen Davis and released through the Kleine-Edison Feature Service.

AUDITORIUM TONIGHT.

There are plenty of tense, gripping situations in the five-part screen drama "The Bludgeon," which is the next release on the Equitable program at the Auditorium theatre tonight. Behind the dramatic episodes of the play, and in fact their main spring, is a story of love, social ambition, and the whole group of passions which naturally surround a woman who endeavors to live beyond the means her husband is able to provide. Kathryn Osterman, the star of the play, as the ambitious and foolish wife, finds in Paul Armstrong's successful drama plenty of scope for her histrionic powers, and uses them to the utmost. Between the opening scene in the little cottage where she, her husband, and their small daughter Rose are living, and the finale, where they have returned to the cottage as to a haven of rest from the false glitter and the dangers attending an attempt to achieve society standards, there is a constant succession of incidents, every one of which tells its story and enforces its moral.

The product of the Equitable's own studios, "The Bludgeon," is a remarkably fine example of staging, direction and photography.

"A Butterfly on the Wheel"

Holbrook Blinn and Vivian Martin Jointly Starring by World Film.

World Film Corporation presents the 5 part photoplay "A Butterfly on the Wheel," based on the successful stage play of the same name.

The cast of characters is one of the strongest in respect of principals ever seen in a World Film feature including Holbrook Blinn, Vivian Martin, George Ralph, June Elvidge, John Hines. All these are motion picture artists of the greatest cleverness and popularity.

The story relates how Peggy Adamston and her husband, shortly after their honeymoon are drifting apart because of the excessive devotion of the husband to business. A friend of the family, Collingwood, is in love with Peggy and endeavors to shake her loyalty to husband and appears to be so successful that she is seriously compromised in the eyes of her husband and he divorces her. In the end fortunately, matters are cleared up and happiness is restored, in the Adamston household.

There are many striking and sensational scenes in this photoplay which has been produced by the famous motion picture director, Mons. Maurice Tourneur, who has many great and successful World Film features to his credit.

"A Butterfly on the Wheel" will be shown at the Auditorium theatre on Monday and Tuesday.

BROADWAY STAR.
ROCKLIFE FELLOWES,
Makes His First Screen Appearance
in "The Regeneration."

Rocklife Fellowes, who plays the leading part in "The Regeneration," has had a remarkable career. Mr. Fellowes hails from Ottawa, Canada, where he was a clerk of one of the leading banks in that city. He is still a young man, not yet thirty years of age. Mr. Fellowes belonged to a dramatic club in his home city, and his acting attracted more than passing attention. Gifted with a handsome face and a magnificent athletic body, he attracted attention. After forsaking the bank for the stage, his rise was rapid and within a couple of seasons he was playing the leading part in a Broadway success and as a Broadway matinee idol.

His first picture work is in "The Regeneration," and he has fulfilled every expectation held when he was first engaged. In "The Regeneration," Mr. Fellowes is cast as Owen Conway, and this character gives wide scope for his excellent and unusual histrionic abilities. Coming soon.

ROSEBUDS IN "SEPTEMBER MORN."
Matinee and Night, Thursday, November 25.

KAMP KILL KARE WEST OF TOWN A HAPPY PLACE

The Y. W. C. A. summer camp out on South Fork, is to some folks merely a name, but to Y. W. C. A. girls it is a pleasant reality. To the weary industrial girl, to the tired business girl, to the happy school girl, in a word, to every girl, Kamp Kill Kare is her retreat for fun and rest. The increasing numbers that visit our camp each year, the reluctance with which our girls leave when it comes to returning to the city, is sufficient evidence that it is an activity of the Y. W. C. A. that has come to stay.

Betty seeks its shady nook to play, where all nature is her play ground. Here every girl can develop that God-given right of healthy play which is so sorrowfully neglected when girls leave school.

Margaret goes to camp to swim and teach others this healthful sport. Helen pretends to tramp about the country, discover haunts of birds, learn their names, and study nature to her heart's content.

Martha is more domestic. She would rather help cook, prepare the tempting meals for which a healthy girl remembers the appetizing meals at camp. Her only regret is that someone else (who never visited camp) might have heard how very much she ate.

Mary would rather rest. For her a cot out under the trees, with perhaps her favorite book, is her conception of an ideal vacation.

It matters not what interests a girl may have, phase of camp life is sure to fulfill her desires. Who could resist the warm friendship around the campfire, when girls sing and chat and perform such fetes as one associates with camp fires.

Even the nights have their secret of helpfulness. To have the privilege of sleeping in open is considered by many a real luxury and yet that is what every girl has an opportunity to do at our camp. There are the stunts and picnics in which folks get better acquainted and meet new friends.

One of the greatest assets of our camp is the intimate contact our girls have with some of the best women of the community, and women whose entire attention is given to doing things worth while for girls. This association with women of noble character is certain to wield a great influence for good for girls who affiliate themselves with the opportunities of camp. Kamp Kill Kare has in the three summers of its existence proven to be the ideal place to play and sleep, to rest and eat, to make the best sort of friends and to serve others.

Such an enterprise should command the good will and support of every true citizen of a community.

RUTH FORRY.

An Inside Bath Makes You Look and Feel Fresh

Says a glass of hot water with phosphate before breakfast keeps illness away.

This excellent, common-sense health measure being adopted by millions.

Physicians the world over recommend the inside bath, claiming this is of vastly more importance than outside cleanliness, because the skin pores do not absorb impurities into the blood, causing ill health, while the pores in the ten yards of bowels do.

Men and women are urged to drink each morning, before breakfast a glass of hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it, as a harmless means of helping to wash from the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels the previous day's indigestible material, poisons, sour bile and toxins; thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach.

Just as soap and hot water cleanse and freshen the skin, so hot water and limestone phosphate act on the eliminative organs.

Those who wake up with bad breath, coated tongue, nasty taste or have a dull, aching head, sallow complexion, acid stomach; others who are subject to bilious attacks or constipation, should obtain a quarter pound of limestone phosphate at the drug store. This will cost very little but is sufficient to demonstrate the value of inside bathing. Those who continue it each morning are assured of pronounced results, both in regard to health and appearance.

The race is not always to the swift. Many a fellow runs into debt and then tries to crawl out.

Sweet are the uses of adversity. It takes a frost to mellow a persimmon.

MEMBERS OF TURKISH RED CRESCENT DIVISION AT EVENING MEAL

OLD FOLKS NEED "CASCARETS" FOR LIVER, BOWELS

SALTS, CALOMEL, PILLS ACT ON BOWELS LIKE PEPPER ACTS IN NOSTRILS.

ENJOY LIFE! DON'T STAY BILIOUS, SICK, HEADACHY AND CONSTIPATED.

Get a 10-cent box now. Most old people must give to the bowels some regular help, else they suffer from constipation. The condition is perfectly natural. It is just as natural as it is for old people to walk slowly. For age is never so active as youth. The muscles are less elastic. And the bowels are muscles. So all old people need Cascarets. One might as well refuse to aid weak eyes with glasses as to neglect the gentle aid to weak bowels. The bowels must be kept alive. This is important at all ages, but never so much as at fifty.

Age is not a time for harsh physics. Youth may occasionally whip the bowels into activity. But a lash can't be used every day. What the bowels of the old need is a gentle and natural tonic. One that can be constantly used without harm. The only such tonic is Cascarets, and they cost only 10 cents per box at any drug store. They work while you sleep.

TRUSTEE

APPOINTED FOR FORMER U. S. SENATOR SMITH FROM NEW JERSEY.

Has Assets of More than $2,000,000 While His Indebtedness is About $1,750,000.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)

Newark, N. J., Nov. 20.—James Smith, jr., former U. S. Senator from New Jersey, announced today that he had resigned the presidency of the Federal Trust company of this city, and placed all his business affairs in the hands of a trustee for adjustment. Mr. Smith's indebtedness approximates $1,750,000. His assets are estimated at more than $2,000,000. He expects to pay all claims against him in full.

The affairs of the Federal Trust company, Mr. Smith announced, are not affected in the slightest by his own personal fortunes. The action announced today is of a friendly nature, it is said, and was due to business reverses in one of the leather companies of this city in which Mr. Smith is heavily interested. It was thought best to guard the interests of creditors, it is said, by having a trustee administer Mr. Smith's affairs. The Fidelity Trust company of this city was named as trustee.

Mr. Smith is in the Daily Advertising Publishing company, which published the Newark Evening Star, and the Newark Eagle, a morning paper. It was said that Mr. Smith's financial troubles would not affect the two newspapers.

Although Mr. Smith has not been actively identified for some time with the publication of the newspapers, his son, George D. Smith, is general manager of the publishing company.

Mr. Smith has been active in New Jersey politics for many years and played a prominent part in the election of Woodrow Wilson as governor of New Jersey, afterward opposing his candidacy for the Democratic presidential nomination.

When Kissing Was Costly.

The case of the people against Murline, heard by the governor of New Haven colony in council on May day, 1900, indicates the attitude toward unlicensed kissing in those times. It appeared that Jacob Murline and Sarah Tuttle had been caught kissing each other. Jacob tried to throw the blame on Sarah, saying he thought she had "with intent let fall her gloves." Sarah denied the intent. Jacob then admitted that he "took her by the hand, and they both sat down upon a chest, but whether he kissed her or she kissed him he knows not, for he never thought of it since until Mr. Raymond told him that he had not laid it to heart as he ought." The stern governor, after duly lecturing the guilty parties on the enormity of their offense, decreed that "the sentence therefore concerning them is that they shall pay either of them a fine of 20 shillings to the colony."

Paid in His Own Coin.

In the days of the country inn and when traveling overland was done on horseback or in carriages the eccentric John Randolph of Roanoke was passing over a road that was new to him. He stopped at an inn for dinner. The meal being over, the driver hitched in his team and was ready to resume the journey when the innkeeper, doubtless with the best intentions, inquired of Randolph where he was going.

"I've paid my bill, and it's none of your business," gruffly answered the traveler.

About half a mile from the inn Randolph found that the road forked. He of course did not know which end to take, so he sent the driver back to inquire of the innkeeper.

"You can tell Mr. Randolph that he has paid his bill and that he can take whichever way he chooses," returned the innkeeper.

European Revolutions.

The four great revolutions of modern times are the English revolution of 1688, which finally put an end to Stuart power in England; the great French revolution of 1789; the French revolution of July, 1830, which was followed by several revolutionary outbreaks in other parts of Europe, and the almost general revolutionary outbreak of 1848. The July revolution in France in 1830 was followed by attempts which were unsuccessful in Germany and Italy, but in Belgium the present kingdom of the Belgians was established, and in 1832 the passage of the English reform bill was directly attributed to events and processes of thought set in motion at that time. The revolutions of 1848 resulted in France in the fall of the bourgeois monarchy and brought about a political upheaval in Europe from many causes from Ireland to the Danube.—New York Times.

The Conductor's Baton.

According to the investigations of a Frenchman, the credit of inventing the conductor's baton belongs to Lully, the composer, who eventually had cause to regret his invention. Before he adopted the baton conductors were in the habit of pounding on the floor with their feet or clapping their hands to mark the time. Lully found it wearisome to keep his foot constantly in motion and so used a stick to strike the floor and beat time. He used a pole six feet long. One day he brought down the pole with such force that it struck his foot and made a deep wound. He paid no attention to the matter. The wound grew worse and ultimately caused his death. After his time conductors tried more and more to improve the baton, and it was ultimately brought to its present form.

The Praetorian Guard.

The Praetorian guard was a select body of troops instituted by the Emperor Augustus to protect his person and consisted of ten cohorts, each of 1,000 men, chosen from Italy. They had peculiar privileges and when they had served sixteen years were retired on a pension of about $500. Each member of the guard had the rank of a captain in the regular army. Like the bodyguard of Louis XI, they were all gentlemen and formed gradually a great power, like the janizaries at Constantinople, and frequently deposed or elevated the very emperors themselves.

Getting to a Busy Man.

"It's a mistake to call on a busy man at his office if you can possibly avoid it." "That's right. Go out and ring him up on the telephone. If you call and send in your card he hasn't the slightest curiosity to know who is trying to talk to him."—Washington Star.

Of Course George Would.

Married Friend—My husband says stock speculation is dangerous if you get on the wrong side of the market. The Placée—But George has promised to be very careful not to get on the wrong side of the market.—Kansas City Star.

Another Way.

Student—I want some information about the bronzes. I suppose I had better write to the keeper? Attendant—Yes, miss, or you might see him verbally.—London Punch.

Rats' Teeth.

The teeth of rats and mice have no roots. As the animal wears them down by gnawing—which prevents them from becoming too long—they keep growing again.

And He Isn't.

He—Cupid is always represented as a poor little urchin without any garments. She—Yes; that is done so that he will never be out of fashion!

The red grouse is the only bird that is exclusively British.

Toughy About Their Rank.

No ambassador can be arrested or sued for debt. However much he may get credit, or even defraud a tradesman, he cannot be prosecuted. It is the same with an ambassador's wife. The wife of a Spanish ambassador at Turin once had her goods seized by a creditor, whereupon Spain at once demanded the most profuse and abject apologies from the Italian government!

We have mentioned the ambassador's wife. She is almost as important as her husband. Any attack on her is reckoned by her husband's government as being an affront to itself. She is very susceptible, too, on matters of precedence, and her susceptibilities must be regarded.

The wives of the British, the French and the Austrian ambassadors all left a ball given by the Princess Palatinal at Rome, and left it before the departure of the king and queen because they had not been placed at the royal supper table while ladies of lesser position had.—Pearson's Weekly.

Nothing Coming.

The teacher was instructing a junior class in arithmetic when she started to give the youngsters some mental exercises.

"Johnny," said she, turning to a youngster of ten, "if you went to the grocery store and bought 10 cents' worth of sugar, 5 cents' worth of soap, 25 cents' worth of coffee and 10 cents' worth of crackers and gave the proprietor a dollar bill in payment for these articles how much change would you get?"

"I wouldn't get any change, Miss Mary," was the rather surprising response of the boy.

"You wouldn't get any change?" exclaimed the teacher. "How do you figure that out?"

"Storekeeper wouldn't give up," answered Johnny. "He would freeze on it to for the old bill."—Philadelphia Telegraph.

The Most Popular Sin.

The most popular sin, according to high authority, is selfishness. At least this was the conclusion reached by a number of prominent public men, including lawyers, editors, religious workers and others in response to an inquiry of Rev. Dr. Kelsner of Grace Methodist Episcopal church, in New York. "What is the most popular sin and the best method to offset it?" Of all the ignoble traits of humanity selfishness works the greatest evil. It finds its root in envy, malice, extravagance and its fruit in sin. If we could analyze the causes of crime, of poverty, of wretchedness and of war itself we would find at the bottom of them all the evil spirit of a selfish purpose. The best text for the preacher today is "Render unto Caesar the things that are Caesar's and unto God the things that are God's."—Leslie's.

Edward Everett.

Edward Everett was one of the most purely literary of all American orators. Among the more eminent scholars and statesmen of our land no one has ever been more deservedly honored for intellectual power, purity of character, public and private, and for clearness and perception of judgment than Everett. To the efforts of Edward Everett more than to any other one person is to be credited the raising of funds sufficient to purchase the home of Washington at Mount Vernon. He delivered a lecture on the character of that great man more than a hundred times and gave the proceeds to the Ladies Mount Vernon association. He personally placed over $60,000 in the treasury. It is probable that his oratory won for benevolent purposes at least $100,000.

Photography.

The earliest experiments in the direction of photography were made by Wedgwood and Day, but the first photograph was actually produced in a camera made by Daguerre and a partner about 1839. In 1840 the first photograph portrait was made by Professor John W. Draper, an American. Progress was made in the work of Fox Talbot, 1841, and Scott Archer, 1851, with the glass plate. The gelatin bromide dry plate was invented in 1871 by Madox and greatly improved by Bennett in 1878. As in many other inventions, it is practically impossible to lay one's finger on one man and one date for the specific "invention" of photography; it has been so largely a work of experiment and improvement.

Legal Necessities.

"I understand you have placed your son in the office of a firm of big lawyers so that he may learn the really important things about his profession." "Yes, and he is being taught them too. Why, the very first day he was put to work drawing up fee bills."—Richmond Times-Dispatch.

If Food Is Too Salty.

One often puts too much salt in food while cooking it. To remove the salt place a wet cloth over the top of the vessel in which the food is cooking, and the steam will draw the salt into the wet cloth.—Good Housekeeping Magazine.

Reserved.

Late comer at lecture (to occupant of aisle seat)—Is the seat next you reserved? Occupant—Evidently. It has not made a sound since I came in.—Dallas News.

Her Status.

Railroad Regulation Should Be Made Under the Regional System

By E. P. RIPLEY, Head of the Santa Fe System

MORE and more people are coming to believe that what the United States has done for its banking system should also be done for the common carriers. I suggest that one way of finding a regulatory system better than the present would be to GROUP THE STATES INTO REGIONAL SECTIONS MUCH AS THE FEDERAL RESERVE SYSTEM IS ARRANGED.

More and more questions are being considered regionally—for example, wages and rates. Would any one expect the employees of the railroads to consent to a different rate of pay in each state? In the rate hearings presentations to the interstate commerce commission are made by the railroads in large regional groups, and the states themselves are co-operating regionally in their opposition. The fascinating task of this generation, therefore, converges upon methods for promoting national unity.

If the railroad and other statesmen can by friendly, intelligent co-operation make railroad stocks so desirable that any man or woman will be glad to put his or her savings directly into them, railroad debts can be carried more easily, the railroad problem will be solved and the incomes of those who save will be increased in comparison with rates allowed by banks on savings of depositors.

THE WAY TO GOOD HEALTH

(By J. D. Montgomery.)

In order to preserve and enjoy good health after we have obtained it we must practice sanitation and cleanliness about the premises. Do not permit decaying garbage to collect about the back yard. And the vault and cess pool, see that they are kept in as good condition as possible. It is an imposition on the neighborhood to allow a water closet to raise a stench that offends the nostrils for blocks around. To control this use the following: 5 cents worth of copperas dissolved in two pails of hot water and poured in the closet. This will stop the offense for several weeks in the hottest weather. What is meant by ventilation is that the air of a room be kept fresh. That does not mean that a wind storm need pass through the room day and night, but it does mean that there be a constant circulation of air through the room. If you would retain the health you have worked so hard to obtain you must not allow yourself to be cooped up in a tight room for eight or nine hours out of the twenty-four. Every cell of every fiber of every tissue of the body calls continually for life giving oxygen. If you do not supply that call you may be sure that you will not keep your health. Do not think, sir, that you can cheat nature out of the necessary oxygen to supply the demand, for she will not accept a substitute.

"Sleep, nature's sweetest restorer," is the time when there is a general and complete renewing of the body waste. The rubbish and clutter of the day's work is cleared away during the hours of the period of unconsciousness called sleep. The amount of sleep needed for each individual differs. Some require more while others do on less; but the average can safely be placed at eight. Mr. Edison to the contrary notwithstanding.

Aside from the rest taken during sleep it becomes necessary to allow a little period of relaxation about the middle of the working day. For those who are hard pressed a little time to relax in the forenoon, say for fifteen or twenty minutes, is a safeguard against that dread "break-down" so many have met and, so few, conquered. Nervous collapse and the so-called neurasthenia are due to pushing one's self in some way or other beyond the danger point. If it is the day's work that is crowding you heed this hint and find a time to relax when approaching the point of exhaustion. If you don't you will find plenty of time to relax, and can't, before long. Then at the natural resting time do it in dancing and other forms of dissipation and still avoid the result of overdoing. "Early to bed and early to rise makes one healthy, wealthy and wise."

The habit of reading exciting literature preys on the nerves of some to that extent that they are decidedly injured in health thereby. This is especially true of those whose nervous system is already in that neurotic state so commonly known to the medical profession. Much of the weakness of eyes, now so plentiful, is due to reading novels. This is because one will read this class of stuff to excess and only stop when the eyes are entirely exhausted. Then the class of matter put in these books and papers is so full of unreal plots and circumstances that one gets dissatisfied with life and develops morbid state of mind which soon preys on the health and often results in failure of the mind as well as bodily ailments. The reading of good literature however results in only good as it exalts the best in life and gives one a hopeful outlook. This is especially true of the Holy Scriptures which if read faithfully will show one the way of the conditions of body and mind caused by fiction. To those who are wrestling with the problem of failing health allow me to recommend the reading of the Bible. To those who are nervous and sleepless, full of apprehension and fear, we commend the Book of books as a safe and sane remedy.

That the careful and the temperate are the best examples of health is well known. When a man orders his life by rule and by habits that are under control that man is a man of good health. It is the excesses of our daily life that brings disease. We are extremists. We go away beyond even our own judgment ever so frequently that soon our health breaks. If we could exercise moderation in all things all the time we would be living examples of what is desirable in physical health. Some posters about town are saying, "Temperance is all right. Prohibition is all wrong." Well temperance in all things preserves the health at any rate. Prohibition of bad habits and vicious practice is not all wrong in a physical sense. It is the lack of temperance in all things and lack of prohibition of many things that brings the body of many men and women to the brink of the grave before the time.

They Paid the Price.

The corporation of the city of Glasgow wanted to purchase the Whistler portrait of Carlyle and in due course waited on the master of the gentle art of making enemies about the price (1,000 guineas). They admitted it was a magnificent picture, but "Do you not think, Mr. Whistler, the sum a wee, wee bit excessive?"

"Didn't you know the price before you came to me?" asked the master, with suspicious blandness.

"Oh, aye, we knew that," replied the corporation.

"Very well, then," said Mr. Whistler in his suave tones, "let's talk of something else." And as there was nothing else of interest to detain the "corporation" they paid the price and made an excellent bargain.

An Eye For His Colors.

Haiti appears to breed a spirit of sensitive patriotism unknown in other countries. Some years ago a general in the Italian army ordered an artificial eye. The maker did his best to execute the order satisfactorily, but the eye was returned from Port au Prince, with a letter complaining that "the eye you forwarded me is of a tint that resembles the Spanish flag. I am far too patriotic to wear any colors but those of my own country." After ascertaining from the ministry of marine the colors of the Italian standard a scarlet and green eye was dispatched, and this met with enthusiastic approval.

Purdie's Panacea.

Tom Purdie, an old manservant in Sir Walter Scott's household, used to talk of the famous "Waverley Novels" as "our books" and said that the reading of them was the greatest comfort to him.

"Whenever I am off my sleep," he confided to James Skene, the author of "Memoirs of Sir Walter Scott," "I have only to take one of the novels, and before I have read two pages it is sure to set me asleep."

Supreme Court Judge Makes a Fine Address to Trinity Men's Club Friday Evening

The Men's Club of Trinity Parish enjoyed an excellent turkey dinner in the dining room of the church last evening, which was followed with a smoker, during which time Hon. R. M. Wanamaker, one of the supreme judges of the state, delivered a most excellent address on "The Relation of Religion to Government."

The Men's Club is cosmopolitan in character and its members meet monthly to enjoy a dinner and smoker and addresses by men of note, secured for that purpose by the entertainment committee. The dinner of last evening was prepared by the women of the church and about 75 men participated. It consisted of oyster cocktails, a generous portion of turkey and dressing with cranberry sauce, mashed potatoes and gravy, olives and pickles, coffee and plum pudding.

After the dinner had been finished Mr. Geo. E. Pickup, president of the club, on behalf of the members, thanked the women for the excellent and appetizing dinner which they had prepared, after which the men repaired to the auditorium above, where cigars were passed and President Pickup introduced Mr. Wm. E. Hopkins, superintendent of the Associated Charities. The purpose of Mr. Hopkins remarks was to create an interest in the humane society of the city and secure new members at the next meeting of the organization which will be held on December 6.

President Pickup next addressed those present stating that the club meetings and luncheons would continue throughout the winter and spring and that the entertainment committee would endeavor to secure the best of speakers so that the meetings might be both enjoyable and profitable. He then introduced the speaker of the evening, Judge R. M. Wanamaker, of the Ohio Supreme Court.

Judge Wanamaker prefaced his remarks by thanking President Pickup and the club members for the warm reception which had been accorded him and spoke of his pleasure in having been able to meet such a representative body of citizens of Newark. He related one or two humorous stories and then launched into his subject, "The Relation of Religion to Government." The speaker's precursory remarks were an explanation of the conduct of some of the country's corporations, or rather their operation by officers, which resulted in mulcting the public out of hundreds of millions of dollars. He referred especially to the cases of the New Haven railroad and some of the great insurance companies. He then told of the part taken by Chas. E. Hughes in the "house cleaning" of those institutions which later resulted in his elevation to the bench of the Supreme Court of the United States.

Judge Wanamaker then told of how certain men and interests ruled the government of New York for years, referring to it as the "invisible government," and that it was this which was the ruin to our constitution. He next quoted from the martyr's speech of Lincoln at the funeral of July 4, 1861, in which he said that the leading object of government should be to better the condition of men.

Referring to the parties of different political belief he claimed that the citizen of today was getting away from the old custom and blind hope in voting for party emblems and said that we were now voting for principles. Judge Wanamaker next discussed his subject from a religious viewpoint and spoke of Christ's kind of religion and the last judgment, quoting from the 25th chapter of the Gospel of St. Matthew, which he said was the doctrine of true religion. We were to follow its teachings and precepts it would elevate the condition of mankind. The speaker pictured Abraham Lincoln as possessing those principles, referring to his nobility of character and his almost incredible unselfishness.

Judge Wanamaker spoke for just an hour and while he made no attempt at eloquence, yet his forcible manner of talking made a deep impression upon his auditors and his address was more than enjoyable and the remarks sank deep into the consciousness of those who heard them, to be recalled hereafter many times with pleasure and profit.

The meeting adjourned after a vote of thanks had been extended Judge Wanamaker for his most excellent address.

VETERANS ENJOY FINE PROGRAM AT MEMORIAL HALL

An open meeting of the Sons of Veterans held last night at the G. A. R. hall commemorated the address of President Lincoln at Gettysburg and in addition to the reading of this address by Comrade Hunt, J. V. Hilliard talked on the subject "Lincoln" and Rev. R. A. Houk talked on "Preparedness," opposing the movement as a general proposition. Maj. W. A. Irvine, to whom had been assigned the subject of Lincoln's life, replied to Rev. Mr. Houk's address, supporting the proposition of preparedness.

The meeting was well attended, considering the weather. The Daughters of Veterans served refreshments.

Many hands make a light load. How much are you helping to life the Y. W. C. A. into the place it deserves in the community?

Theatres

Alhambra Sunday. Mlle. Gaby Deslys, the world-famous beauty and dancer, is presented for the first time to the motion picture public in an original photoplay written especially for the talented star, entitled "Her Triumph." This novel four-part film was produced in Gaby's native country, France, by the Famous Players Film Company, who release the production on the Paramount Program. The feature is the current attraction at the Alhambra.

At Mazda. Mazda program for Tuesday and Wednesday Metro production, the greatest hit of the season, "The Bridge or the Bigger Man," from Rupert Hughes' great stage success, with the accomplished dramatic actor, Henry Kolker, supported with an eminent cast of players. A five-act photoplay dealing in virile fashion with the aristocracy of wealth. Sunday's attraction at the Mazda will be a Broadway star feature, "For the Honor of the Crew," featuring James Morrison, with a Vitagraph star cast.

On Monday, "A Western Governor's Humanity," with Governor Hunt of Arizona and Vinnie Burns in the leading roles.

At the Gem Sunday. A very pleasing program has been selected for this coming Sunday (tomorrow) when another of David W. Griffith's great dramas will be shown, "The Great Leap, or Until Death Do Us Part," a thrilling four-part drama, based on a great Kentucky feud, featuring dainty Mae Marsh and Robert Harron, supported by an all-star cast of Reliance-Majestic stars. Also a two-part Mustang feature, "Man to Man," with the popular stars, Jack Richardson and Anna Little, in the leading parts.

"His Adopted Daughter," an impressive beauty drama, featuring Frank Borzage and Estella Allen.

"Tabby" cats are so called after a street in Bagdad.

What the "Von" Means.

The German title of "von" as a prefix before a surname was in feudal times the privilege of the landed barons, who thus designated, as in other countries with like prefixes, their ownership of lands. In modern times, however, the prefix "von" may be granted as a title of nobility by the German emperor or the kings of the various kingdoms of the empire. It does not carry any privileges or emoluments with it. It is recorded in the heraldry office in Berlin if granted by the emperor as kaiser or as king of Prussia, in Munich if granted by the king of Bavaria, Leipzig if conferred by the king of Saxony, etc. The recipient is not given a diploma with it. It may be, like the English title of baronet, personal or hereditary—that is, it may be granted to a man for his lifetime only or may descend to his sons. It cannot be assumed by any one, but may be earned by any deserving German subject and conferred as a reward for service or eminence.—San Francisco Chronicle.

An Ancient Tragedy.

A historical paper in Lord Montagu's collection in London tells of a strange tragedy "done in Holborn, a little before Christmas," several centuries ago: "A boy seven years old came up into a gentleman's chamber and prattled to him and drew his sword and flourished with it. The gentleman, being in bed, wondered to see the boy toss his blade so and said: 'So, good boy, thou hast done well. Put in the sword.' The boy, persisting, the gentleman rose and held him the scabbard, and the rude handed lad, thinking to sheath the sword, lustily chort into his body. Company were called. One offered to strike the child. 'Let him alone,' quoth the gentleman. 'God is just. This boy's father did I kill five years since and none knew. Now he hath revenged it.' And the gentleman died the second dressing."

The Last of the Ruffs.

In 1762 the rage for ruffs, such as are seen on many monumental effigies, began to decline. A writer in the London Chronicle of that year says of gentlemen's dress, "Their cuffs entirely cover their wrists, and only the edges of their ruffles are to be seen." It is said that a distaste for ruffs was first created so far back as 1613, when a woman named Turner wore them on her trial for the murder by poison of Sir Thomas Overbury. The French revolution of 1789 much influenced British fashion, and the picturesque cocked hat and ruffles then gave way generally to round hats and small cuffs. The period of their final disuse cannot be easily determined, as men of old fashioned or eccentric habits have worn ruffled shirt fronts within quite recent memory.

Tricky Fox.

A gentleman while hunting near a river one winter day saw a fox run out on the ice and make at full speed for an opening in the ice where the rushing water of the river could be plainly seen from the bank, says the Scotsman. At the edge he stopped, turned, followed his tracks back to the bank and then ran some distance down the stream and sat there. Soon a dog came crashing out of the woods, baying furiously, hot on the fox's trail. Now, dogs when on a chase of this kind trust almost entirely to their noses. This one was no exception. He ran along the ice, head down, and when he reached the hole he could not stop, but plunged into the water and disappeared forever. Then the fox trotted away with every sign of satisfaction.

A Lightning Result.

During the lessons one afternoon in a public school a thunderstorm arose, and, seeking to lessen the fright of the children, the teacher began an entertaining discourse on the wonder of the elements.

"Jimmy," said she, finally turning to a bright little youngster, "can you tell me what lightning is?" "Yes, ma'am," was the ready rejoinder of little Jimmy. "Lightning is streaks of electricity." "That's right," smiled the teacher encouragingly. "Now, tell me why it is that lightning never strikes twice in the same place." "Because," answered Jimmy quite easily, "after it hits once the same place ain't there any more."—Philadelphia Ledger.

An Ancient Astronomer.

About 500 B. C. Anaxagoras of Ionia was born. When he "grew up in wisdom" he was the first to teach the course and cause of both solar and lunar eclipses and to give his followers rules whereby they could distinguish planets from fixed stars. He was punished for declaring that the sun was not a god.

His Tendency.

"Does your boy show any literary tastes?" asked the visitor on the farm. "Well," answered the father as he gazed down the road at his son driving home the lost pig, "he can pen a stray article now and then."—Baltimore American.

Tremendous Tolls.

"Professor, how would you like to receive a message from Mars?" "Trepidat!" asked the professor cautiously.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Gentle Words.

Gentle words, quiet words, are, after all, the most powerful words. They are more convincing, more compelling, more prevailing.—W. Gladden.

Flooding the Magazine.

A flooding device to prevent the explosion of the powder magazine is fitted to most big battleships. By simply turning on a number of taps seawater is allowed to rush through pipes into the powder store, which is rendered harmless in case of fire.

The Idea.

"I see where a very clever dog is the star of a play lately produced." "I suppose they did that to make it a howling success."—Baltimore American.

Italy's Ancestral Glories.

Three times has Italy ruled over Europe. She has sat on the political throne under the Caesars, on the ecclesiastical throne under the popes from Gregory the Great to Leo X. and on the intellectual throne of the renaissance. These things every Italian family remembers. Augustus Caesar and Trajan, Hildebrand and Innocent III, Dante and Petrarch, Michelangelo and Raphael, Galilei and Bruno are in his mouth like household words. The Italian does not consider himself and us as equals; he accepts, he believes in, modern democracy, but deep in his heart he is an aristocrat, haughtily proud of his long descent, haughtily proud of his long descent and his ancestral glories. When thinking of Italians one must always bear in mind that they, out of all the peoples of Europe, have the most glorious past and that they are conscious of it to the quick.—Henry Dwight Sedgwick in Yale Review.

Balzac's Way.

Jules Sandeau related that one time while living in Paris Balzac locked himself up in his room for twenty-two days and twenty-two nights, refusing to see any one and keeping the curtains closed and the lights continually burning even in broad daylight. The only human being he saw during this time was his servant, whom he rang for when he felt the need of food, which he washed down with numerous cups of coffee. He would throw himself on his bed only when entirely exhausted from lack of sleep, and he remained in complete ignorance of what was transpiring outside, the state of the weather and even of the time and day of the week. He only freed himself from this voluntary captivity when he had written the word "End" on the last page of the manuscript he began when he entered his prison.
